

SHANNIGAN'S OPENS AT THE INN AT DROMOLAND

*Seasonally fresh and temptingly creative,
Shannigan's Gastro Pub Opens at The Inn at Dromoland*

Newmarket-on-Fergus, IRE. (March 20, 2014) – Dromoland Castle is pleased to announce the opening of Shannigan's Gastro Pub in April 2014 at its sister property, The Inn at Dromoland Castle.

As a new dining option available at Dromoland Castle, guests discover a casual way to relax and revive in the warm, friendly pub atmosphere that is Shannigan's, while still enjoying the highest service standards for which Dromoland Castle is known. A true Gastro Pub, Shannigan's embraces the emerging Irish cuisine phenomenon that is becoming known around the world. Visitors will be delighted by the fun and creativity of the chef's changing menus that reflect seasonality, with daily specials highlighting foods selected at the peak of their seasonal freshness.

Shannigan's draws its ingredients from Irish food producers for the freshest and finest ethically-produced products, as part of its commitment to supporting the local economy. Meat is sourced predominantly from local farms, fish from local fisheries in West Clare and vegetables from East Clare.

The commitment to supporting Irish producers also extends to its drink offerings, including Craft Beers produced by Artisan Brewers, and new blends of Spirits produced by the micro-distilleries who dot the country.

Thrilled with the progress made in the renovations at The Inn at Dromoland, Managing Director Mark Nolan expects guests to welcome this new dining experience. "It's our way of enchanting guests with the local warmth, friendliness, and tastes that personify Ireland."

Shannigan's is a 2,500-square-foot Landmark Gastro Pub designed by McNally Architects, a firm synonymous with some of the leading bar, restaurant, and hospitality design projects in Ireland, the U.S., and the Middle East in recent years.

Laughter is brightest, in the place where the food is. – Irish proverb
